RATIO	FORMULA	INTERPRETATION
Government-Wide General Ratios
Change in net position as a percent of net position	$\frac{\text{Increase (decrease) in governmental activities' net position}}{\text{Governmental activities' net position beginning of year}}$	The ratio measures the change in the municipality's financial condition for the year. A positive ratio indicates that the financial condition has improved; a negative ratio indicates a deteriorating financial condition.
Revenue coverage ratio	$\frac{\text{Governmental activities' current year revenue}^*}{\text{Governmental activities' current year expense}}$ *Current revenue includes both program and general revenue, but excludes gains, losses, contributions, special and extraordinary gains or losses and transfers.	The ratio measures interperiod equity - whether current year revenue covers the cost, including depreciation, of providing current year services. A ratio greater than 1.0 indicates positive interperiod equity; current year taxpayers are providing adequately for current year services. When the ratio falls below 1.0, either prior year revenues were used to fund a portion of current year services or future citizens are being burdened with some of the cost for providing services consumed currently. A higher value for the ratio usually is considered favorable. However, an extremely high ratio may indicate that the municipality is not providing services commensurate with the current revenues being generated from its tax base.
Unrestricted net position as a percent of current year revenue	$\frac{\text{Governmental activities' unrestricted net position}}{\text{Governmental activities' current year revenue}^*}$ *Current revenue includes both program and general revenue, but excludes gains, losses, contributions, special and extraordinary gains or losses and transfers.	The ratio measures the ability of the municipality to operate if its normal revenue stream is temporarily interrupted or significantly impaired. The ratio is the measure of the cushion that the municipality has for bad years. Municipalities may set a target minimum value for this ratio. A high ratio usually is considered favorable. However, an extremely high ratio may indicate that the municipality is not providing appropriate current services for its constituents based on its recurring revenue stream.
Accumulated depreciation as a percent of depreciable capital assets	$\frac{\text{Governmental activities' accumulated depreciation, end of year}}{\text{Governmental activities' depreciable capital assets, end of year}}$	The ratio is a measure of the relative age of depreciable capital assets compared to the assets' economic lives. Lower ratios are considered to be more favorable; the municipality will not face significant replacement cost in the near future.

City Of Liberty, Missouri

RATIO	FORMULA	INTERPRETATION
Government-Wide Liquidity Ratio
Liquidity ratio	$\frac{\text{Governmental activities' liquid assets}^*}{\text{Governmental activities' current liabilities}}$ *Cash and short-term investments, excluding any restricted assets	The ratio measures the municipality's ability to meet current obligations from existing cash and short-term investment balances. A higher ratio is considered favorable, indicating that the municipality will be able to pay current liabilities as they become due.
Government-Wide Debt Ratios
Debt to assets leverage ratio	$\frac{\text{Government activities' total debt}^*}{\text{Governmental activities' total assets}}$ *Total long-term liabilities, excluding operating liabilities such as accrued compensated absences, claims and judgments payable, and pension obligations. Short-term operating debt is also not included	The ratio is a measure of the degree to which the municipality's total assets have been funded with debt. A lower ratio is considered favorable, indicating that the government does not have significant creditor claims against its assets and has less risk of default on debt.
Total debt per capita	$\frac{\text{Governmental activities' total debt}^*}{\text{Population}}$ *Total long-term liabilities, excluding operating liabilities such as accrued compensated absences, claims and judgments payable, and pension obligations	The ratio is a measure of the debt burden to citizens. A lower ratio is considered favorable, indicating that the citizens are less heavily burdened. The municipality has the ability to issue future debt at a lower cost.
Government-Wide Revenue Ratios
Tax revenue per capita	$\frac{\text{Governmental activities' tax revenue}}{\text{Population}}$	The ratio is a measure of the tax burden to citizens. A lower ratio is considered favorable, indicating that current citizens are paying less tax. Therefore the municipality has a greater ability to increase taxes to meet future needs.

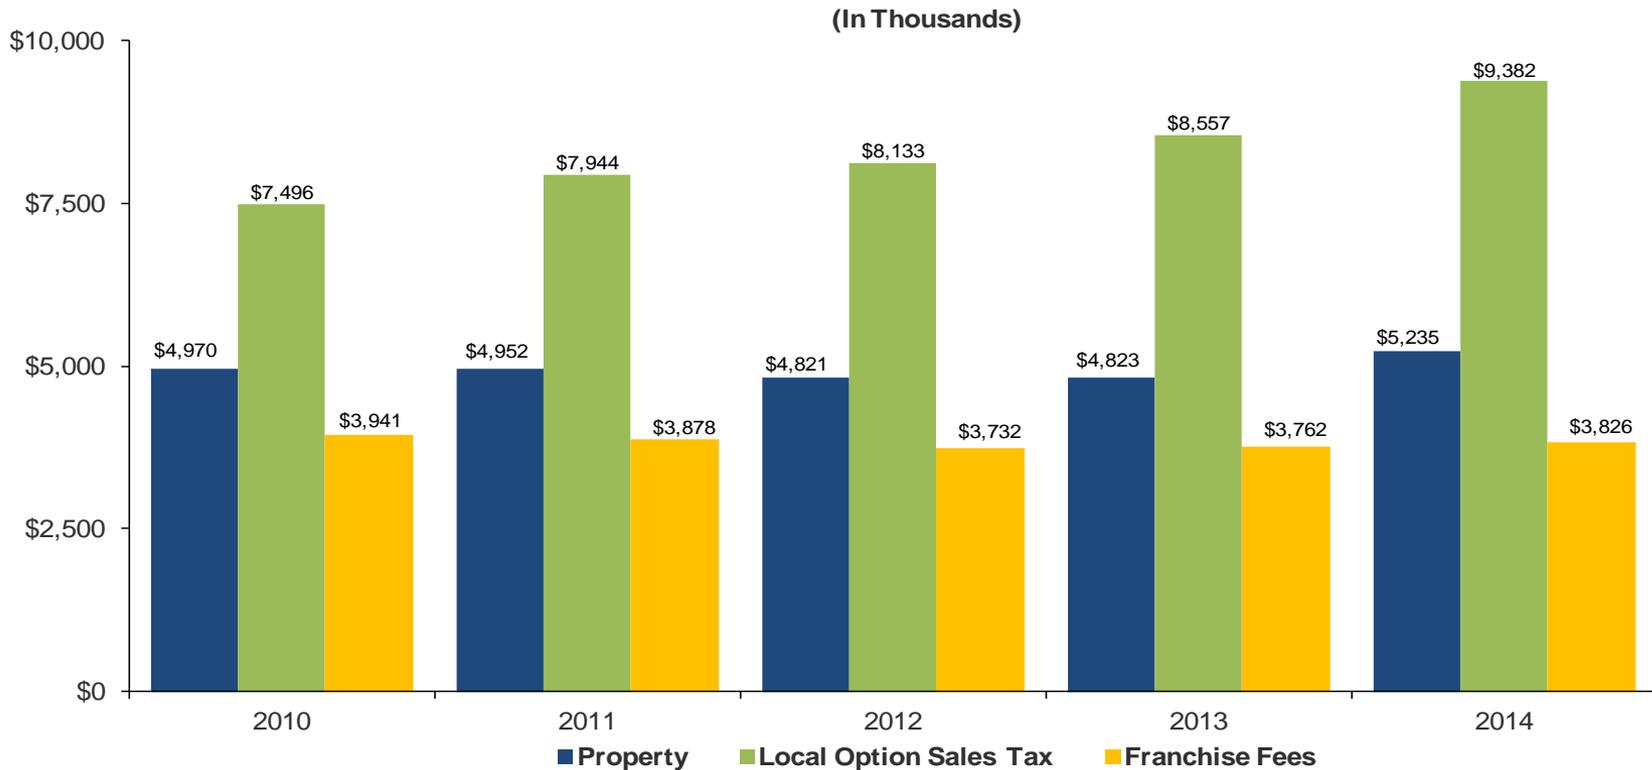

City Of Liberty, Missouri

RATIO	FORMULA	INTERPRETATION
Total grants, contributions and other intergovernmental revenue as a percent of total revenue	$\frac{\text{(Governmental activities' total operating grants and contributions + total capital grants and contributions + other intergovernmental revenue)}}{\text{Governmental activities' total revenue*}}$ *Current revenue includes both program and general revenue but excludes gains, losses, contributions, special and extraordinary gains or losses and transfers	The ratio measures the municipality's reliance on grants, contributions and other intergovernmental revenue. A lower ratio is considered favorable, indicating that the municipality is less reliant on external sources that are beyond its control.
Government-Wide Expense Ratios
Total expense per capita	$\frac{\text{Government-wide total expense}}{\text{Population}}$	Expense ratios measure the current-period cost of providing services to citizens, or current-period financing cost. Functional expense categories, including depreciation, measure the cost of using capital assets to provide current-year services. Low ratios are depicted as favorable. However, the amount of expense incurred is not necessarily commensurate with the quality, efficiency or effectiveness of the service provided.
Total general government (administration) expense per capita	$\frac{\text{Government-wide general government (administration) expense}}{\text{Population}}$	See previous comments.
Total public safety expense per capita	$\frac{\text{Government-wide public safety expense}}{\text{Population}}$	See previous comments.
Total interest expense per capita	$\frac{\text{Government-wide interest expense}}{\text{Population}}$	See comments above. Lower interest expense is considered favorable. The municipality has incurred lower debt and therefore less financial risk.

City Of Liberty, Missouri

Government Fund Ratios
Debt service expenditures as a percent of total revenues	$\frac{\text{Governmental fund debt service expenditures}}{\text{Governmental fund total revenue}}$	This ratio measures the amount of current revenue that is devoted to meeting the year's debt service requirements. Significant debt service requirements potentially lower the amount that can be used for providing current services. A low ratio is considered favorable.
Capital outlay expenditures as a percent of total expenditures	$\frac{\text{Governmental fund capital outlay expenditures}}{\text{Governmental fund total expenditures}}$	The ratio measures whether the municipality is adequately providing for capital asset additions and improvements. A high ratio is considered favorable, indicating that the municipality is providing adequately for its capital asset needs.
General Fund Ratios
Unassigned fund balance as a percent of total revenues	$\frac{\text{General Fund unassigned fund balance}}{\text{General Fund revenues}}$	The ratio measures the ability of the General Fund to continue operations if its revenue is temporarily interrupted or declines. This ratio is a measure of the General Fund operating cushion. Municipalities may set a target for this ratio. A higher ratio is usually considered favorable. However, an extremely high ratio may indicate that the municipality is not providing the level of services commensurate with its revenue stream.
Intergovernmental revenue as a percent of total revenue	$\frac{\text{General Fund intergovernmental revenue}}{\text{General Fund total revenue}}$	The ratio measures the General Fund's reliance on revenues from external sources to finance current operations. A low ratio is considered favorable, indicating that the General Fund is not overly reliant on revenue sources that are beyond its control.
Transfers in as a percent of total revenues and transfers in	$\frac{\text{General Fund transfers in}}{\text{General Fund total revenues and transfers in}}$	The ratio measures the reliance of the General Fund on transfers from other funds. To the extent the transfers are from enterprise funds, the users enterprise services may be subsidizing General Fund operations. A low ratio is considered favorable, indicating that the General Fund is not dependent on transfers.

City Of Liberty, Missouri General Use Tax Revenue

OBSERVATION

Property and franchise taxes have remained fairly consistent from year to year. Sales taxes increased about $800,000, which is attributed to retail growth in the Liberty TIF districts and just overall stabilization of the local economy.

City Of Liberty, Missouri Revenues Allocated to Special Taxing Districts

(In Thousands)

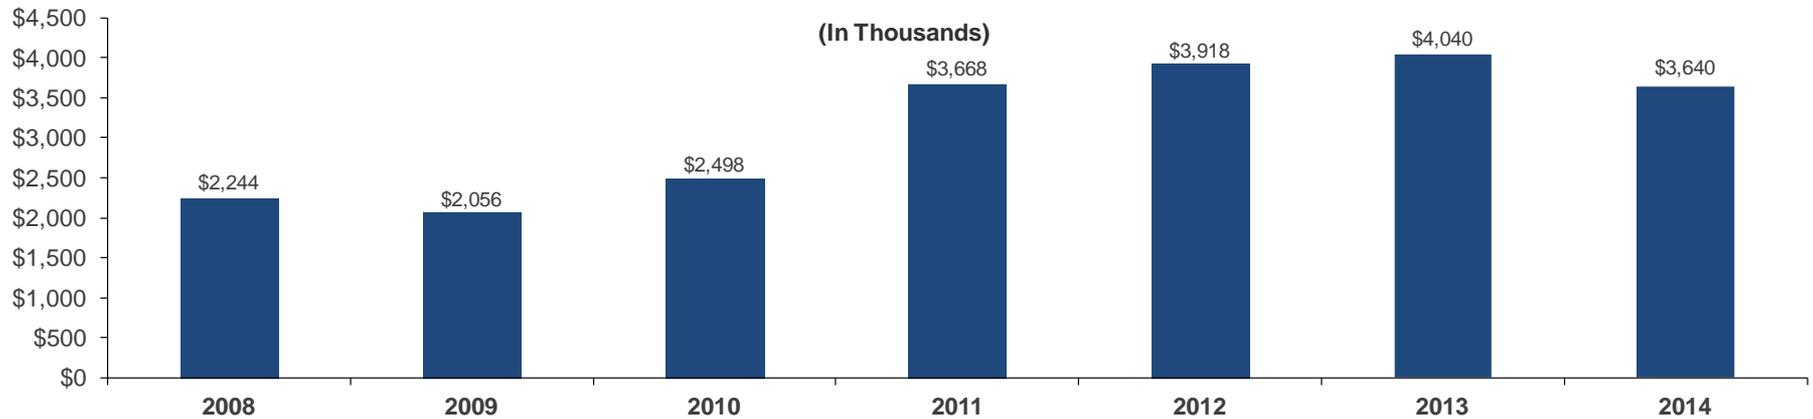

OBSERVATION

The following graph provides information about the impact special taxing districts have on the City and the revenues reported in the financial statements. These taxes are allocated to these districts and are not available for general spending of the City.

City Of Liberty, Missouri

Unassigned Fund Balances – General Fund

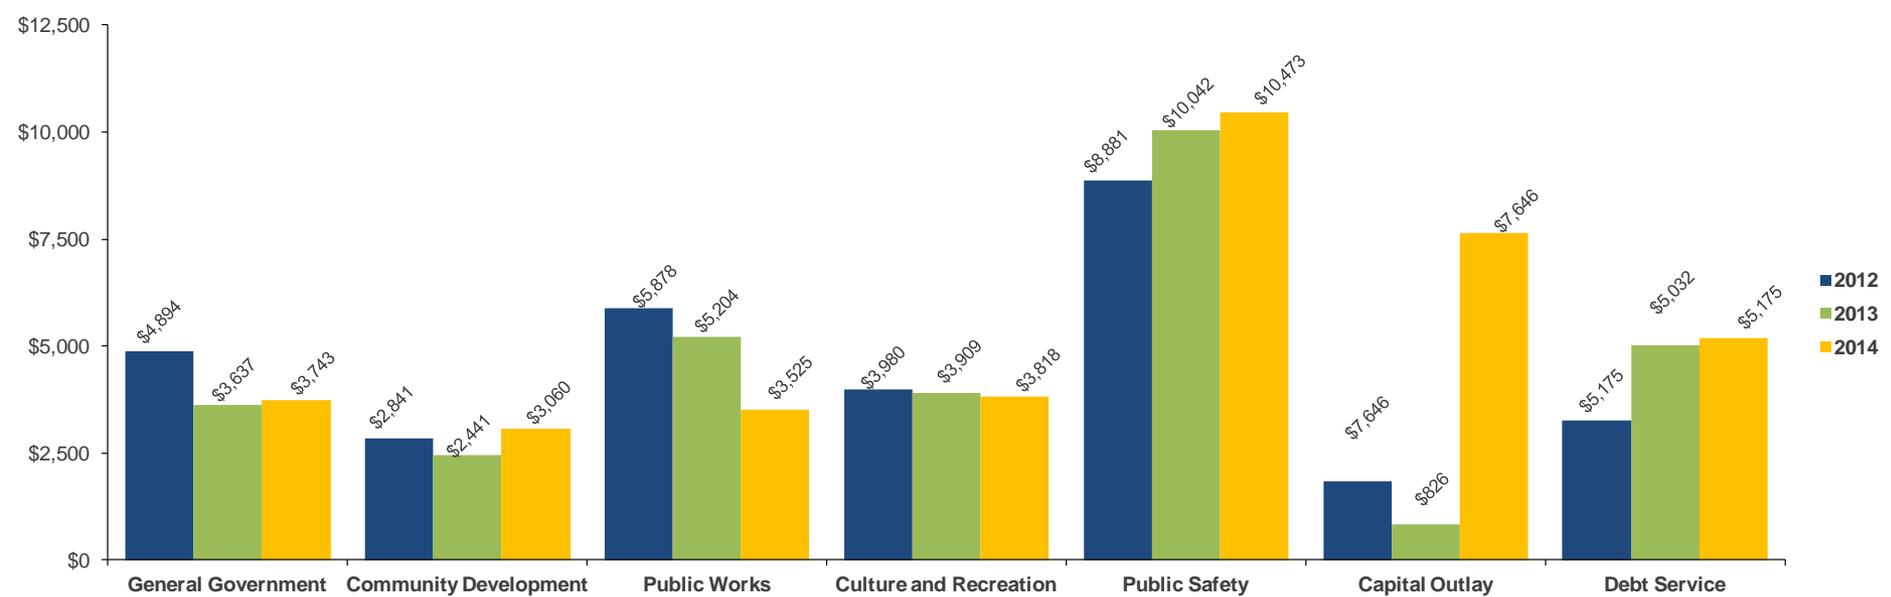

OBSERVATION

The increase in tax revenues was countered by an increase in City employees' wages and public safety expenditures related to the radio system replacement project causing a decrease in unassigned fund balance.

City Of Liberty, Missouri Selected Expenditures By Function – Total Governmental Funds

(In Thousands)

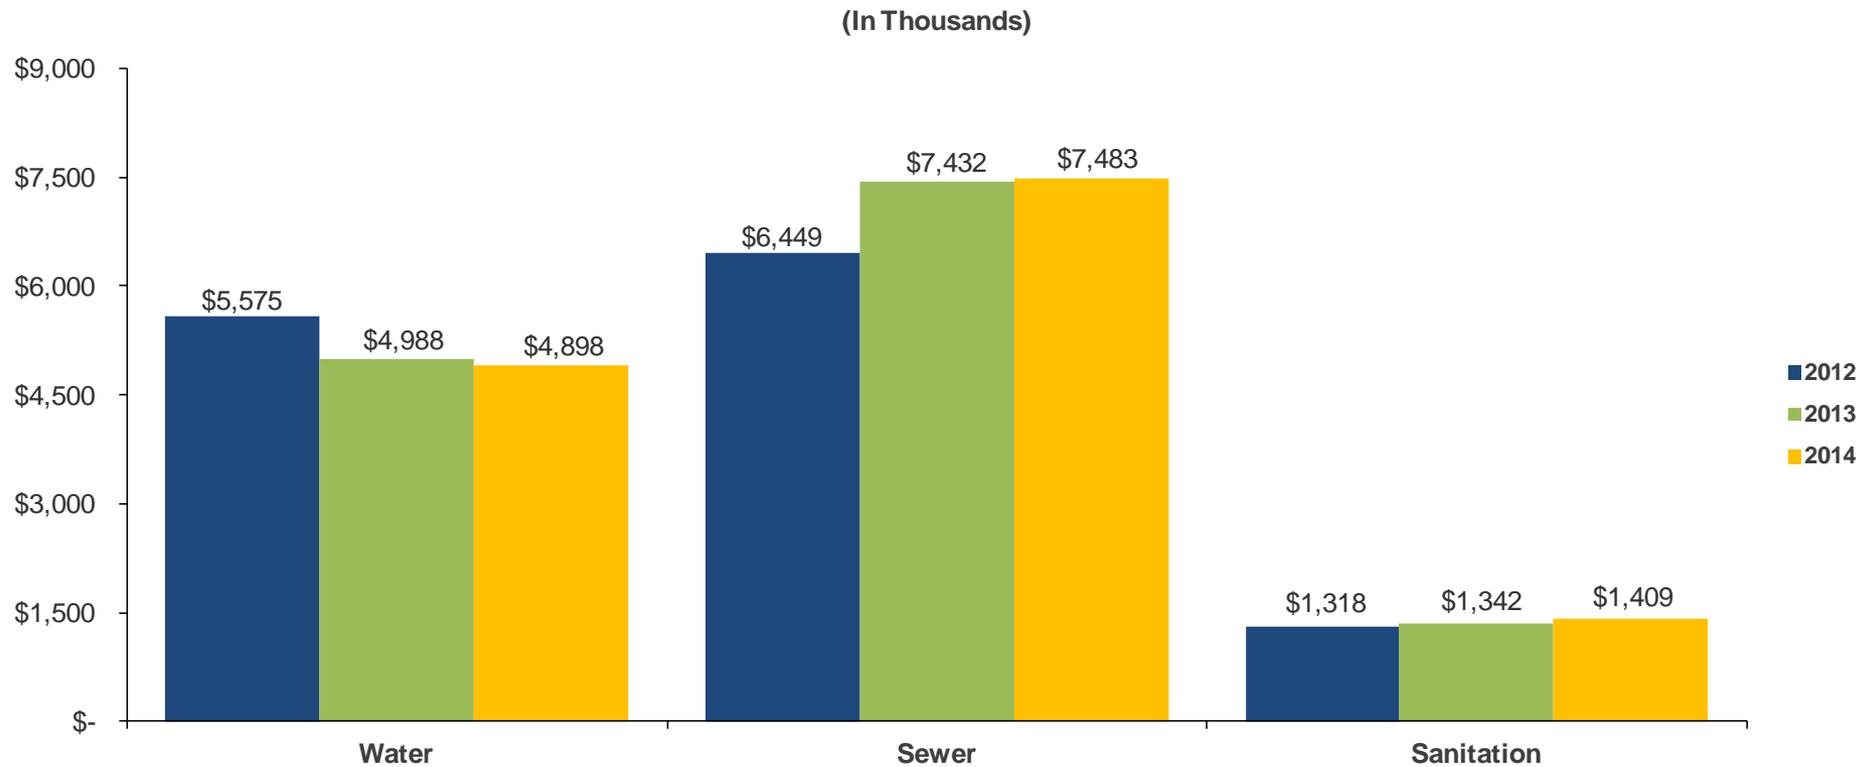

OBSERVATION

Capital outlay increased due to several new capital projects in 2014. Public Safety expenses increased in the current year due to higher Police and Fire wages. The decrease in Public Works relates to additional funds received in prior years from the Road District settlement which was used to overlay roads. Additionally, in 2013, there were several expenditures related to storm water repairs that were not repeated in 2014.

City Of Liberty, Missouri

Total Operating Revenues – Enterprise Funds

OBSERVATION

Current year rate increases for the Water Fund were offset by the unusually mild summer and normal rainfall levels during 2014. Sewer Fund revenues are affected by the same trends that drive Water Fund revenues and therefore revenues are flat despite the rate increases.

- ◀▶ GASB Statement No. 68, Accounting and Financial Reporting for Pensions -
 - ◀ GASB Statement No. 68 was approved on June 25, 2012. This statement improves the accounting and financial reporting of public employee pensions by state and local governments. Under the new requirements, the net pension liability will equal the present value of total future benefits to be paid to current employees less the net position of the plan. This statement is effective for periods beginning after June 15, 2014 and will need to be implemented by the City with their December 31, 2015 financial statements.
 - ◀ In short, employers must report the full amount of their unfunded obligation as a liability, even if the actuarial calculated annual contribution requirements are being met or exceeded.
